

NEWNET COMMUNICATION TECHNOLOGIES LLC NAMES PRADEEP MALHOTRA AS VP OF ENGINEERING

MANAGING DIRECTOR OF INDIA OPERATIONS AND GLOBAL SOFTWARE ENGINEERING EXECUTIVE TO BE NAMED VP OF ENGINEERING FOR LEADING SIGNALING AND SMS SOLUTIONS COMPANY

Trumbull, Connecticut- MARCH 12, 2010 -- NewNet Communication Technologies today announced the appointment of Pradeep Malhotra as VP of Engineering. Pradeep possesses over sixteen years of telecom/networking industry experience, targeting solutions for infrastructure providers and wireless carriers. Before joining NewNet, Pradeep was responsible for managing the global software engineering team at Vanu Inc. as Managing Director for their development center at Bangalore, India, which he had founded in 2007.

Prior to Vanu, Pradeep has held a broad range of positions including software development, engineering management and general management roles with Trillium Digital Systems, Intel and Continuous Computing Corporation. These assignments have covered technologies including SS7, VOIP, ISDN and wireless (2G, 3G, CDMA etc.). Pradeep was a key architect in developing the Distributed Fault Tolerant architecture for telecom protocols and applications and was awarded a patent.

Pradeep possesses a Bachelor of Engineering in Electronics & Communication from IIT, Roorkee (India) along with an Ex MBA from IIM, Bangalore (India)

Ron Pyles, CEO of NewNet, stated, "With the addition of Pradeep we will be moving rapidly to expand our deployment, support and professional services capabilities into India. Having worked with Pradeep in the past I know that our customers will be pleased with the value he will bring to our current and future engagements."

"NewNet has exceptional engineering talent, which has helped in maintaining their product leadership in the signaling and messaging space over the last two decades. I am looking forward to growing the engineering capabilities across additional geographies and to serving our customers more efficiently. I am extremely excited about joining the NewNet family and feel privileged to be part of a strong executive team under Ron's leadership," said Pradeep.
